

COLLEGE OF VETERINARY MEDICINE

3505 Veterinary Medicine Basic Sciences Building,
MC-002 2001 S. Lincoln Ave.
Urbana, IL 61802-6178

UNIVERSITY OF ILLINOIS AT URBANA CHAMPAIGN

Open-Rank Faculty in Veterinary Anatomic Pathology Specializing in Zoo and Wildlife Pathology Zoological Pathology Program, The Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory Full-time, 100% (12-month basis)

The University of Illinois is an Equal Opportunity, Affirmative Action employer that recruits and hires qualified candidates without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, national origin, disability or veteran status. For more information, visit <http://go.illinois.edu/EEO>.

The University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine Zoological Pathology Program, a unit within the Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory, invites applications for an open-rank faculty position in Veterinary Anatomic Pathology. The Zoological Pathology Program is a full-service diagnostic, teaching and research program within the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory and housed at the Chicago Zoological Society's Brookfield Zoo, within in the Chicago metropolitan area. The Zoological Pathology Program zoological institutions as well as local, national and international non-profit and governmental wildlife agencies. For more information about ZPP please visit <https://vdl.vetmed.illinois.edu/zoological-pathology-program>.

Requirements: Candidates must possess a DVM or equivalent degree, ACVP board eligibility and experience in non-domestic animal pathology. Advanced research training, experience in diagnostic veterinary medicine and molecular techniques, ACVP board certification, as well as excellent communication/ interpersonal skills are preferred. Position rank and salary will reflect experience and qualifications.

Duties: The successful candidate will function in the areas of diagnostic service, teaching and scholarly activity. Service duties will include necropsy examinations, surgical pathology, and pathology consultations with clinicians at allied institutions, referring veterinarians and collaborating biologists. Teaching duties will include instruction of veterinary students, pathology residents and graduate students. Creative scholarly activity will depend on the candidate's interests and may range from creation and improvement of molecular diagnostic services to collaborative or independent research. Assignment of duties is expected to be 75% service, 20% teaching and 5% creative scholarly activity but are flexible dependent upon the candidate's background and interests.

Salary: Commensurate with applicant's experience and qualifications. The University of Illinois offers a complete benefits package. A summary explanation of these benefits can be found at <https://www.hr.uillinois.edu/benefits>.

Starting date: Anticipated starting date is on or about August 15, 2022.

Application procedures: Please create a candidate profile through jobs.illinois.edu. In order to receive full consideration, applications must be received by May 6, 2022. Applicants may be interviewed before the closing date; however, no hiring decision will be made until after that date. If you are interested or would like additional information on the position, please contact:

Dr. Jennifer Landolfi, Clinical Assistant Professor Department of Veterinary Clinical Medicine
Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory
landolfi@illinois.edu

The University of Illinois conducts criminal background checks on all job candidates upon acceptance of a contingent offer. As a qualifying federal contractor, the University of Illinois System uses E-Verify to verify employment eligibility. The University of Illinois System requires candidates selected for hire to disclose any documented finding of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment and to authorize inquiries to current and former employers regarding findings of sexual misconduct or sexual harassment. For more information, visit Policy on Consideration of Sexual Misconduct in Prior Employment.

University of Illinois faculty, staff and students are required to be fully vaccinated against COVID-19. If you are not able to receive the vaccine for medical or religious reasons, you may seek approval for an exemption in accordance with applicable University processes.